20,000 Acres Good Farming Lands
For Sale Cheap.
Don't go west, young or old man, if you want a farm, call on Thos. White, who will sell to actual settlers good land, at from $1.50 to $2.50 per acre. No cash payment required, only taxes and interest to be paid annually. These lands are situated in the counties of Alpena, Montcalm, Presque Isle and Alcona, where villages and hamlets crowd the landscape of the domain. Schools and Churches lend their presence to inspire moral merit to renewed ambition, as also to promote a humanizing influence in the affairs of life.

These Counties afford a home where contentment and independence will reward the toiler, a home into which the sunshine of days unborn may be reflected, revealing promises rewarded, beautifying the present and illuminating the future with rays of purity, love and truth. 724

Prices, children $6 per term, ladies $6, gentlemen $7. Parties desiring to join the classes will please leave names with H. H. Wittleshofer.

On looking over Alpena the other day we found her blossoming into one of the most beautiful cities to be found anywhere in the State. A few years ago it was generally considered that Alpena was a barren sandy waste where nothing would grow, but her now beautifully shaded avenues and fine gardens give the lie to this old idea. Really, the streets and gardens of a greater portion of Alpena are beautiful to look upon, showing a great improvement since three years when our home was there. Au Sable and Oscoda may not have quite as fertile soil as Alpena, but the efforts that have been made to make shade trees have borne good results, and we hope in the future to see interest in these things develop rapidly.—Oscoda Monitor.

Death of Mayor Richardson.
On Monday, the 14th, Mayor Charles W. Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. Richardson and some friends, left by steamer City of Mackinac, being on a visit to relatives and friends at Pittsfield, Maine. Shortly after his arrival at Pittsfield, Mayor Richardson was taken sick and on Friday, the 18th, he died. The sad news was telegraphed to this city, and soon became known through the city, causing general regret. On Saturday morning, his adopted daughter, Mrs. Dr. Newton, accompanied by her husband, left by mail steamer, for Pittsfield, to render what assistance they could in bringing the remains to this city, and attending to Mrs. Richardson. As soon as possible the sorrow-stricken party started on their return to Alpena, and arrived here last night by steamer City of Alpena.

The remains were taken in charge by a committee of the Masonic lodge, and conveyed to his late residence, followed by Mrs. Richardson, Dr. and Mrs. Newton, relatives, friends and the Common Council. There was an immense crowd present on the wharf.

Mayor Richardson was born in Maine, 1823, and was 63 years of age at the time of his death. He was one of the pioneers of Alpena, arriving in 1864. In 1870 he leased the Oldfield mill, running it until 1871, when in company with Avery and Murphy, he purchased the mill. The firm was known as Richardson, Avery & Co. Five years later the firm dissolved partnership and Mr. Richardson then purchased the entire mill property and has retained possession from then to the present. The mill is one of the largest in town and manufactures some 16,000,000 feet of lumber per year. Near his lumber mill, he, some years ago, built a shingle mill, which manufactures about 5,000,000 shingles per year. Both mills are run by water power. When the Alpena National bank was organized in 1884, Mr. Richardson became a stockholder, and at the time of his death was vice president of the bank.

He commenced his business life as a poor boy, but by close attention to business, by unceasing labor and by careful management, he rose from poverty to become the richest citizen of Alpena. What his wealth really is, we are not able to state, but is generally believed to be at least $1,000,000. Besides his lumber business, he had a large interest in vessel property. It is not yet known what disposal he made of his wealth, but is believed to have made a will. Mr. Richardson had no children. He had an adopted daughter, Mrs. Dr. Newton. With the men in his employ, Mr. Richardson had but very little trouble as far as we know. He paid good wages, kept good men around him and paid cash. His life has been one of unceasing labor with few pleasure relaxations, and about the only amusement he took part in was in his trotting horses.

In politics Mayor Richardson was an ardent and sincere Democrat, but had few aspirations for office. We do not believe there was a happier Democrat in Alpena county when the news became known in November, 1884, that a Democrat president had been elected.

In 1874 the Democrats of Alpena city nominated Mr. Richardson as their candidate for Mayor. His opponent was Geo. L. Maltz. Mr. Richardson received 368 votes, and Mr. Maltz 401. Last April the Fusionists nominated Mr. Richardson for Mayor and he received a majority of 785—the total vote cast for the office of Mayor being 1,659.

On the receipt of the news last Friday, flags were displayed at half mast from the various flag staffs and on the Alpena vessels and tugs.

The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be in charge of Masonic order.

Strawberries.
Our people love strawberry short cake and strawberries and cream are a stock solution at a church social, at this season of the year. Nearly every one is fond of strawberries, and the consequence is that large quantities are needed. The first shipments brought in are from away down south, then from the Central States, then from the southern part of Michigan, and last comes the home crop. Prices are high at first but soon drop to 25 cents per quart, and then competition forces prices down below the cost of the berries. The price this year has been as low as six and eight cents per quart, and the berries were brought several hundred miles by rail and steamer. The berries were mostly sent here by commission dealers. By the Bay City steamers, strawberries were brought to town last week as follows:

	Bushels
Wednesday	22
Thursday	17
Friday	72
Saturday	16
Sunday	16
Tuesday	81

The retail price this week is ten cents per quart.

To Be Found.
